At the year-end Mount Allison annual Athletic Awards Night, Miramichi Valley resident Meghan Dickie was honoured as the University’s 2010-11 Female Athlete of the Year. Dickie was also recognized as her basketball team’s MVP and as a 2011 Canadian Colleges Athletic Association (CCAA) All-Canadian. She was also the Atlantic Colleges Athletic Association (ACAA) most valuable player for the 2010-11 season.

Dickie who led her team to another ACAA conference championships playoffs scored an average of 17.9 points per game, good enough for a third-place ranking nationally.

Dickie is a former Athlete of the Year from Miramichi Valley High School, and a transfer student from ABU. In her first season (2008), she was the ACAA league’s Rookie of the Year. This honour was followed by two more first-team all-star selections over the next two seasons, and in her final year at Mount Allison, Dickie was recognized as the league’s MVP and a 2011 All-Canadian.

A hard-working captain, Dickie is enrolled in fourth-year Arts and hopes to continue with a career in social work.

Mount Allison University, located in Sackville, NB, is widely recognized as Canada’s top undergraduate university. Founded in 1839, Mount Allison and its student-centered approach to education is ranked the #1 undergraduate university in Canada by Maclean’s magazine, as it has been for 14 of the last 20 years. The University has had more Rhodes Scholars per capita than any other university in the nation, and counts many of Canada’s top business, cultural, and community leaders among its graduates.
